15 years ago, I was a stay at home mom of two young boys. I hosted a Tupperware party that changed my life forever! That night, I signed up to become a Tupperware Consultant.

It was totally out of my comfort zone, but I was anxious to meet people and I just felt like Tupperware was the bridge to help me be able to connect with other people. Being a mother is everything to me, but doing something for you is important too! I feel that women really need to treat themselves.

After the first 13 months in business, I earned my first Tupperware car, and I've never been without a car since. I've earned a total of eight cars, plus I earned a Mustang convertible. Tupperware is always rolling out new products that are fun and easy to use—like our latest, the Sorbet Maker. I love making homemade sorbet without things like added sugar and color for the family.

A lot has happened along the way in life since I started my business; I went through a divorce and became a single parent. All my friends were like, 'Oh my God—what are you going to do? You're going to have to get a REAL job?' I said, 'No, I have a real job.' And I knew that by doing parties, I could make enough income to maintain the lifestyle that I wanted to have, even being a single parent.

I eventually remarried and moved to a new state. After being a single parent, when my boys were about eight and nine, we moved to Maryland and I successfully restarted my business again.

My boys hear me talk about positivity all the time and having no excuses. They've learned that from me. Now they are big boys; they're 18 and 20. My oldest son is a U.S. Marine and his younger brother will be entering Marine Corps boot camp this July. I've been able to be at home with them growing up, where a lot of their friends had to go to daycare or after school care.

Family is everything. I've taken my husband on several all-expense-paid trips that we never would have been able to do without Tupperware. On my second WOW trip that I earned through Tupperware, we went to Hawaii, which he loved and he thought that was amazing, and then I earned the Monaco trip. That one totally blew his socks off!
